LOSS TO CHURCH AND STATE

The Louisville diocese, the State of Kentucky and the Catholic Church sustained a great loss on Friday evening of last week, when Very Rev. Father Cornelius J. O'Connell, the venerable dean and pastor of St. Joseph's church at Bardstown, passed away after a long illness at St. Joseph's Infirmary, this city. News of his death was telegraphed throughout the State, and when the bells of St. Joseph's church at Bardstown began to toll those of all Protestant churches and the fire department joined the dirge.

Father O'Connell was born at Frankfort, Ky., November 21, 1853, but moved to Louisville in early childhood. For several years he attended St. John's parochial school, Clay and Walnut streets. He then went to Belgium for his preparatory and classical courses and studied theology at the University of Louvain. Returning to Louisville, he was ordained by the late Bishop McCloskey, June 29, 1878. He was assistant to the Cathedral of the Assumption here for four years, and was then appointed a professor in St. Joseph's College, Bardstown. In 1878 he was made President of the college and a year later became pastor and dean of St. Joseph's church. He served in the dual capacity until the college was closed in 1889. The church is the oldest Roman Catholic church west of the Alleghenies and the college one of the first educational institutions in the State. The college is located directly behind the church, which is rich in art treasures and has been the mecca of thousands of tourists. The church was formerly the cathedral of the diocese.

Father O'Connell remained as dean of the church following the closing of St. Joseph's College. The latter institution was reopened by Xaverian Brothers ten years ago. Father O'Connell wrote several books of sermons which were widely published. During his administration he had spent more than $75,000 in improvements on St. Joseph's church. He had erected a number of monuments at the church and college, among them being a statue of Bishop Flaget, the first Bishop of the diocese, and the first Bishop in Kentucky to be soldiered in the World War. He arranged ceremonies which lasted a week in celebration of the laying of the cornerstone of St. Joseph's church and its consecration several years ago.

Father O'Connell is survived by two brothers, David O'Connell, for many years connected with the Police Court and work house in this city, and Thomas O'Connell, Russellville; five nieces, Mrs. M. O. Stevenson, Mrs. George Russell, Mrs. North O'Connell and Miss Josephine O'Connell, all of Russellville, and three nephews, Thomas L. Parrott and C. J. O'Connell, Russellville; Cornelius O'Connell, Louisville, and Father O'Connell, S. J., of Praire du Chien, Wis.

The body of Father O'Connell was taken to Bardstown Saturday afternoon and laid in state in the old Cathedral, where the remains were viewed by thousands from all walks of life, guarded by two members of the Knights of Columbus, two members of the Girls' Sodality, and two members of the Boys' Sodality.

Tuesday morning the funeral, the largest and most impressive ever witnessed in Bardstown, was held, and as a mark of respect the courts were closed, all business suspended, and the streets were thronged with silent mourners. Right Rev. Bishop O'Donaghue presided at the solemn requiem services, his deacons being the Very Rev. J. P. Cronin, V. G., and Very Rev. Edw. Spalding V. G. of Alton, Ill. Right Rev. E. Obrecht also was present, attended by Rev. Harry Spalding, S. J., and Rev. Father Nivard, O. C. R. Forty-two priests, besides the Bishop and Abbot, were present, also members of the Xaverian Brotherhood and every Sisterhood in the diocese, as well as many prominent non-Catholics. Rev. J. A. Hogarty, Dean of Lebanon, directed the singing of the office of the dead.

Long before the hour for the mass the church was thronged and many remained standing outside. Rev. Daniel O'Connell, S. J., was the celebrant; Rev. Wm. F. Hogan, deacon; Rev. P. Bretnor, subdeacon. Rev. William D. Pike, master of ceremonies; Rev. Frank Smith and Rev. James Mahony, acolytes; Rev. Joseph McAleer, curate; Rev. Father Davis, chaplain of Nazareth, conducted the services at the grave. The Rev. Father Thomas Hayes, of Bowling Green, life-long friend of the Rev. Father O'Connell and Vice President of St. Joseph's College during the Rev. Father O'Connell's incumbency, preached the sermon. He touched upon the beautiful and Searcy machine in trying to pick a winning Republican Presidential nominee, there is the biggest kind of trouble right at home. While Chen Searcy was away notices were given to all the papers that Judge Krieger would appoint Rose Searcy as Oil Inspector when the time came, this announcement being made. It is said, to forestall the growing rumor that Judge Krieger would do away with the Hert-Searcy machine and appoint his mother when the time came. But the chief cause of anxiety to the Republican leaders is the open mutiny at the City Hall, and the way the Councilmen and Aldermen have been throwing brickbats at poor near Mayor Smith is a shame. Councilman Harry Volz sneered at the junketing trip of Smith, Burlingame and their associates and inferred that this committee at home found out more about street-car troubles and wants than did the joy travelers. The members boasted that the near Mayor had been beaten in the General Council on the daylight saving, the gouge of the Home Telephone Company and the raises in salaries for Paul Burlingame and T. B. Crutcher. The General Council members are just now demonstrating what was claimed in these columns from the outset—that Smith was a near Mayor. Burlingame is an amassing cuss, as Artemus Ward would say. After Felix Dumas and his little band of followers in the lower board had slaughtered the proposed raise for Paul our hero strides into the limelight and said it was done for revenge because he wouldn't fire Capt. Pat Carroll and Capt. Bill Fisher, of the fire department. In other words, Paul would rather save these two than have a thousand dollars more a year. "Bravely spoken, my noble Paul," as Laura Jean Libby would say, and three cheers and a couple of bravos for our hero who spurns the filthy lucre.

Also, the failure of the sewer bond purchase brings more trouble, but the near Mayor causes a wide spread chuckle when he says "that civic pride" will purchase them. If he refers to civic pride in his administration of gambling scandals, Keystone police, "hick" fire department, pay-as-you-enter hospital and dirty streets, the bonds would not sell for fifteen cents on the dollar. Civic pride! Ho! ho! ha! ha! But the real worry of the sewer bond failure is felt by the Hert-Searcy machine. With a million dollars to spend, negro laborers to work on the sewers would have been brought in here by the thousands, and the work of the machine in controlling primaries and elections would be considerably lightened. An influx of negroes would hardly please the white citizens, but that wouldn't worry the Republican machine.

Speaking of the negro relation to the Hert-Searcy machine, there is a story going the rounds concerning Phil Brown, the noted negro politician from Hopkinsville, who won recognition by switching his half-vote from McCool to Hert, and gave the latter his election as National Republican Committeeman. Phil on March 4 last pulled off a ball de luxe in colored society, which is still the talk of colored people in all classes. Through some strong pull, and they say Brown had Gov. Morrow to aid, he secured the Jefferson County Armory for a negro ball. That looks like an awful drop for the home of the Symphony Orchestra, the First Regiment, the Galli-Curi and McCormack concerto, but nevertheless the Fiscal Court, composed of these prominent Republicans, Messrs. Grinstead, Hunt and Baskin, rented the hall to the noted colored politician. Brown then spread the glad tidings among the colored folks, announcing the affair as "Four Big Balls," and we copy the following from his printed announcement: "Two thousand multi-colored lights, music from stately to jazz. Full dress, military, masquerade and debutante. Thousands of beautiful costumes."

Well, the "four big balls" as advertised, came off on March 4, and the colored population, taking the announcement of "four big balls" to be a classification, divided accordingly. In one corner of the armory was the colored 400, the West Chestnut elite; in another the Pendiennes and Seelbach waiters predominated; in the next were the colored gamblers, a la Hurley Pope's friends, and that tribe of leisurely colored gentlemen who do not labor, but depend on the earnings of their wives' wash and a bit or two of the Hert-Searcy machine at election time. In the last corner, near the door, were the hood-carriers, bootblacks and coal peddlers. Everyone had just a most "scrumbitious" time, as a colored lady put it, and none of the gentlemen were compelled to pull their "razzazzas." To the tune of "It takes a long tall brown skin gal to make a preacher lay his Bible down," and other favorite melodies, the guests made merry in the white folks' armory. Now we come to the sad part. The genial Phil Brown announced in advance that the Booker Washington Center would get a big slice of the receipts after the armory was paid, but to date there has been no report of the Center getting anything, nor have Messrs. Grinstead, Hunt and Baskin reported that they collected any rent from the manager of the big colored society event. Looks like the joke is on the taxpayers of Jefferson county, and the gentlemen from Hopkinsville should worry, eh?

LIGHT OPERA.

The choir of St. Boniface church has finished rehearsing the comic opera, "The La's of Limeick Town," to be presented in St. Boniface hall on April 13, 14 and 15. The excellent orchestra of that congregation will furnish the music, the whole performance being under the direction of Mr. Anthony Mohlengraf. This will be a high class production and should attract crowded houses.

POLITICAL FREEDOM SOLUTION.

Following a joint meeting of the Parliamentary Labor party and the Labor National Executive at the House of Commons, the report is issued of the Labor Commission of Inquiry into the present conditions in Ireland. The joint meeting adopted the following resolution:

"That the report of the delegation to Ireland be accepted and the delegation be thanked; that in view of the annual conference of the Labor party in June next, the report be printed for the information of the party and submitted to the conference for consideration; and that, as the situation in Ireland is very grave and changing from day to day, a joint committee of the Parliamentary party and the party executive be appointed to consider all the issues as they arise and to formulate policy in greatest detail."

Following is the report, in part made by the Commissioners: As a result of their investigations the Commissioners are convinced that, although social and economic conditions are an integral part of the problem, the fundamental necessity is a change in the political system. They hold that much of the prevailing discontent is unquestionably to be attributed to "British misrule." Acts of violence they universally condemn, but point out that these are not all on one side, and they are convinced that on the popular side such acts are the work of irresponsible extremists and form no part of the policy and programme of any organized body of Irish opinion.

Much of the prevailing discontent is unquestionably to be attributed to the methods of the present administration. Apart from the wider claim of the Irish people to the control of their own affairs, these methods would drive any spirited nation into a state of deep-seated and dangerous discontent. Where the administration is not merely unintelligent it appears to be deliberately provocative. Over the greater part of Ireland the belief exists that Dublin Castle pursues a policy of calculated provocation. The civil and military authorities before them have destroyed practically all the safeguards of political and personal liberty, and we have reason to believe that this policy of repression has given many Nationalists belonging to the constitutional school into the arms of Sinn Fein. Raids on private dwellings are common occurrence. To be found in possession of political leaflets means immediate arrest. A gathering of three or more persons is an illegal assembly. Fairs and markets, which are an essential part of the machinery of Irish trade, are prohibited; trade union meetings, even national games and pastimes, are forbidden; musical societies of the most harmless character are regarded as conspiracies.

One-word solutions, such as "separation" or "partition" raises more difficulties than they remove. We believe the solution lies somewhere between the extremes of the "no change" policy of Ulster and the "clear out" policy of Sinn Fein. The Labor delegation came definitely to the conclusion that "partition" is not remedy, if only for the reason that Ireland is an economic entity. With regard to the demand for complete separation, politics is the art of the possible and the opposition which this policy would encounter from

American Sculptor Picks Southern
Marble For Lafayette Statue
Bas Relief.

Striking Sustained Figure Now Be-

Great Pilgrimage to Metz Is Planned

August.

INCLUDES A TOUR OF FRANCE.

Paul W. Bartlett, the American sculptor, announced Saturday that he had picked a Southern marble for the bas-reliefs of the statue of Gen. Lafayette which the Knights of Columbus are going to present as a gift to the city of Metz next August. After consulting with many quarry agencies and being offered all kinds of substantial American marble, Bartlett selected several tons of stone which came from the Tennessee mountains. The first consignment has been received in New York City from Knoxville. Mr. Bartlett immediately notified William J. McGinley, Supreme Secretary of the Knights of Columbus, who is making the arrangements for the project, that he would commence the task of reproducing the topical subjects on the marble. Two of the bas-reliefs will measure seven feet and eight inches in length and four feet six inches in height. The smaller ones will measure four feet in width and four feet six inches in height. On the larger bas-reliefs the scene in Congress when President Wilson accepted war with Germany will be depicted, while the second will be symbolic of Marshal Ferdinand Foch, who gave a prophetic message to the K. of C. in Paris in July, 1918, when he said: "Within a very short time Alsace and Lorraine will be restored to France by your great country." The smaller bas-reliefs will show Christopher Columbus and his tiny fleet sailing for America and Gen. Pershing at the tomb of Lafayette.

The Labor party is committed, as indeed the whole British nation is committed, to the principles of self-determination. The acceptance of this principle implies the right of the Irish people to determine their own future. We believe that if Ireland were left free to decide whether she would remain within the Empire or become completely separated from it, the Irish people themselves, upon mature consideration, would decide that it was in their own interest that the link should not be completely severed.

We consider, therefore, that the principle of self-determination is acknowledged by the British Government in the case of the self-governing dominions, just as it is admitted in the case of the self-governing dominions, but that the constitution conferring self-government in Ireland should not be subjected to revision by the Irish people until after an agreed number of years, during which under self-government they would have an opportunity to return to a more normal state of mind, free from the prejudices and animosities engendered by the failure of British governments in the past to satisfy Irish demands.

FRIDGES OF FREEDOM.

Next Tuesday evening there will be a public meeting of the Friends of Irish Freedom at Bertrand Hall, to which the public will be welcome. Able speakers will review conditions as they exist in the old land and make known news that has escaped the British censor.

YOUNG WOMEN'S COLLEGE.

Nazareth Alumnae is undertaking to further the project of a Young Women's College to be established by the Nazareth Literary Association in the old Rankin home on Fourth, next to Presentation Academy. It is expected to open a standardized college in Class A next fall, as the faculty is ready with degrees from leading universities. The officers of the alumnae who have the project in charge are: President, Mrs. F. C. Nugent; Directors, Mrs. J. H. Buschmeyer, Mrs. E. F. C. Hancock, Mrs. E. J. O'Brien, Mrs. W. H. Everroad; Secretary, Miss E. Kerr; Recording Secretary, Miss Helen English; Treasurer, Mrs. Eliza C. Enos.

HUNDREDS ENROLLED.

Several hundred colored ex-service men who showed a wicked bayonet and fighting stamina to the Germans have been enrolled, and are now students of the free supplementary evening schools of the Knights of Columbus in the Southern States. The educational opportunities offered by the Knights to the colored service men are along the same lines governing their chain of free elementary and vocational schools in other sections of the country. This fall the colored service men will be able to attend schools at Charlotte and New Orleans if the present tentative plans are carried out. Bishop Thomas Sebastian, of the diocese of Nashville, has recorded his unqualified approval of the work in that section of the South, and the Rev. Joseph B. Glenn is active in the work at Memphis.

FATHER O'CONNELL.

With the passing of the Rev. Dean Cornelius J. O'Connell the Louisville diocese and State of Kentucky suffers a distinct loss. Father O'Connell was a Kentuckian, an American and a true priest of God, held in high respect by Catholics and non-Catholics alike. He has been called to join the heavenly hosts, but those who knew him will long revere his memory. May he rest in peace.

IRELAND AND BELGIUM.

During the war, and remember it was war time, indignation was widespread over the stories that the German army was deporting Belgians and locking up citizens without charges. Now here it is, in supposedly peace times, England is perpetrating all of the above crimes on the people of Ireland and not a protest from our Tory press or the sober sisters who used to weep over Belgium's wrongs. Britain's course in Ireland is but a continuation of her criminal history. It is the same soulless England that forced China to use opium because it was profitable to England. The same power slaughtered Boer men, women and children because England coveted the diamond mines. The people of India have been starved and massacred by the thousands because of objection to England's rule of brutality. The rule of England means a trail of brutality, starvation and murder, and the reign of crime and murder in Ireland today is but a continuation of England's criminal history, a history that has no parallel with any other nation in the world, civilized or uncivilized. 'Tis great to the credit of the people of America that they refuse to clasp the bloody hand of John Bull and adopt the Tory idea of hands-across-the-sea policy.

BOYCOTT NECESSARY.

The stories of the rapid fire divorces and remarriages of Mary Pickford, Douglas Fairbanks, Owen Moore, Charles Chaplin and others of the moving picture world is pretty disgusting to the average man and woman, and a movement should be inaugurated to boycott this set of new rich actors and actresses who have no hesitancy about flaunting their disregard of the sacred rites of marriage before the world. The American people, first of all, want their idols and heroes to be at least decent, and parents do not relish the idea of their children idolizing the Pickford-Fairbanks-Moore type with their disgusting marital episodes. The public brought them into the limelight and now should force them into oblivion. Press and public should point the way.

LITTLE EFFECT.

Agitation against the high cost of living still continues, but apparently it has little effect. Various schemes are proposed to bring down prices of commodities, but there is no relief in sight. Allowing that there is profiteering to a shameless extent in certain high quarters, this does not account for the situation. The fact is that the public is to blame to a large extent. Reckless extravagance and "easy money" are at the bottom of it all. Some day the country will wake up to the fact that the orgy of spending can not go on forever. If we can escape a financial panic we shall be fortunate indeed.

SECRET TREATY.

A correspondent now reports that Turkey and Great Britain entered into a secret treaty a year ago without the knowledge or consent of the other powers. By this treaty the possession of Constantinople was guaranteed to the Turk in return for recognition of British supremacy in Syria and Mesopotamia. It is possible that the report is without solid foundation. But it would explain many events that have taken place in the Near East during the past year. Great Britain is again upholding the Turk to terrorize and massacre Christians because the balance of power must be maintained.

SHOCKS EVEN ENGLISH.

It was a shock to pro-British newspapers in this country which have monopolized the task of approving Lloyd George's, or rather Sir Edward Carson's, current home rule measure, to learn what the most eminent Englishmen at home think of it. The British press does not attempt to defend the measure—much less justify it. Herbert H. Asquith brands it "a most fantastic

Martha Sanders, is highly qualified as a teacher, being a graduate of the course in two institutions, Purdey College and the State Normal School of Danville, Ind. She is on the teaching staff of the public school system of Louisville, and conducts the Red Cross classes in the afternoon and evening.

PEOPLE MUST DECIDE.

The adoption of the prohibition amendment to the Constitution has not removed the question from the sphere of politics, if one may judge from the sentiment that is growing strong in several States. The fact is that national prohibition was adopted without giving the people an opportunity to say whether they wanted it or not. That does not settle the question. In some way it will be brought before the people for their verdict. We have nothing against prohibition as such, but we dislike to have something "put over on us." That explains why prohibition is becoming so popular. It was "put over" in the form of a constitutional amendment. The reaction has now set in. How it will end we do not know; but in the last analysis it is the people who will decide. Laws and even constitutional amendments that have not the support of the people can not long endure in this country. We have not yet become an oligarchy.

McGinley to donate twenty-five cents apiece in commemoration of their service in France, and especially in Alsace and Lorraine. The Secretary has been deluged with letters from ex-service men, enclosing their "two bits" to honor the French hero of the Colonial days.

FRANKFORT.

The first and most notable of the Easter marriages at Frankfort was that of Miss Emma Mae Tutt and Allen K. Frank, of Danville. The ceremony took place in the home of the bride's mother, the Hunt House, on Broadway. The Rev. Father F. O'Dwyer, of the Church of the Good Shepherd, was the officiating clergyman.

Lavender and yellow were the colors used in decoration, the parlor, where the ceremony was performed, being converted into a bower of blossoms, sweet peas in the lavender shades and lavender lilles and sunburst roses, with much similia being used. The improvised altar was of palms and white standards, held baskets of peas.

There were two attendants, Miss Sarah Carpenter, Louisville, and Miss Mable Taylor, of Frankfort, the former being gowned in a lavender georgette with picture hat of the same material and carrying lavender sweet peas.

Miss Taylor was gowned in a yellow georgette dress with hat of same most stylish and carrying a bunch of yellow roses and lavender peas.

The bride's gown was a lovely creation of ivory satin imported with trimmings of orange blossoms, and the real lace veil, which was given to the bride by her aunt, having been brought from Paris, while Mis Hunt was with the Red Cross in war work.

The ceremony was most impressive, the ring service being used, and a beautiful programme of music was played during the ceremony. A reception followed, to which invitations had been issued to several hundred, and a delicious luncheon was served.

Many useful gifts were received. The couple left later in the evening for a visit in South Alken, S. C., for a stay of several weeks, after which they will be at home in the home of Mr. Frank's parents, in Danville, until they go to house-keeping.

MACKIN COUNCIL.

Tomorrow afternoon Mackin Council, Y. M. C. will initiate a large class of candidates, when the entire team will work hard to make the event a success for both members and candidates. The balmy weather of the past few weeks saw the candidates for the baseball team going through some stiff practice, and from the large number trying out for the team successful candidates landing a berth may consider themselves real ball players or mighty lucky.

Mackin carried off the honor in the Twin City League last season, and means to be a contender for the pennant in the present league. The team has been reorganized by George Thornton, and its supporters are promised some real baseball the coming season.

HIBERNIAN RALLY.

President S. J. McElliot, of Division 4, A. O. H., and his brother officers are making a special effort to get every member of the division to come to the meeting at Bertrand Hall next Monday evening, as something pertaining to the good of the order and Hibernian affairs in general will be introduced at this meeting.

SOLDIERS' WELCOME.

A holiday was observed at Lanesville, Ind., ten miles west of New Albany, Monday, because of a soldiers' welcome celebration, held at St. Mary's School Hall there in honor of ten members of St. Augustine's Commandery, Knights of St. John, who served in the great World War. Each man was presented a medal, issued by the Supreme Commandery, Knights of St. John, G. E. Weismann, New Albany, and Father Peckham, of St. Mary's church, Lanesville, made addresses.

TAKES DEFEAT CALMLY.

The British press has taken the defeat of the League of Nations by the Senate more calmly than most people expected. The reason is not far to seek. It is that it could not do otherwise without opening the eyes of their countrymen to the effect the continued denial of political justice to Ireland has on the liberty-loving people of the United States.

Probably at no time in their history have Americans hated and distrusted England as much as they do at this present hour. British hypocrisy and British cant are the roots of this hostile sentiment; for while England is prating about liberty, her henchmen in Ireland and other equally unfortunate parts of the world are busy jailing and torturing and murdering those who acknowledge that the word Liberty belongs to their political vocabulary.

QUEEN'S DAUGHTERS.

The Queen's Daughters held their annual meeting and election of officers yesterday afternoon, too late to be reported in this issue. Much satisfaction was manifest when the reports were read and the work of the past year was reviewed.

GOING TO CHILI.

An Irish race convention will be held in Montreal this summer in favor of self-determination for Ireland and to further the objects and work of the convention an Irish-Canadian league has been formed. Branches will be organized all over the Dominion, from Halifax to Vancouver, with the headquarters in Montreal.

BIG SONG HIT.

The new song, "Ireland of the Footstool of Heaven," has won the hearty approval of every liberty-loving American, regardless of nationality or creed, and is in great demand everywhere. This song is meeting with success in schools and homes. All dealers are selling the sheet music and rolls for player pianos.

BIRTHDAY.

The Most Rev. Austin Dowling, Archbishop of St. Paul, was born in New York City fifty-two years ago Monday, and the occasion was remembered by his friends in all parts of the country, the good Archbishop being deluged with congratulations.

FAMOUS AMERICAN.

In 1869, on November 6, Admiral Stewart, an American, who won fame in the battles against French privateers and against the British in the war of 1812, died. Admiral Stewart was the grandfather of Charles Parke.

PROJECTS SEMINARY.

Archbishop Christie in a pastoral letter announced the project of a seminary which he hopes to start soon at Portland, Ore. He says that an admirable location is available, and that a distinguished body of ecclesiastical educators is disposed to take up the work.

RECENT DEATHS.

Funeral services over the remains of Mrs. Mary Murta Keller, aged forty-eight, were held Thursday morning at the Church of Our Lady. She is survived by her husband, Albert F. Keller, 3127 Western Parkway.

John Kremer, a widely known member of Holy Trinity church, died Monday night at his home, 1132 East St. Catherine street. Surviving him are two brothers and two sisters. His funeral took place Wednesday morning.

John J. O'Rourke, forty-nine years old, died Sunday night at his home, 652 East F street. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Mary A. Clark O'Rourke. Funeral services were held Tuesday morning at St. Philip's church, conducted by Rev. Father Ackermann.

Miss Mary H. Schneider, thirty years old, beloved daughter of Fred J. Schneider, 836 East Burnett avenue, passed from this life Monday morning, her death mourned by a wide circle of acquaintances. She was a faithful member of St. Elizabeth's church, from which the funeral took place Wednesday morning.

Jerry Delaney, for many years a well-known grocer in the West End and a regular communicant at St. Cecilia's church, died Sunday night at his home, 2532 Bank street, the announcement being received with expressions of sorrow everywhere. He is survived by two brothers, Patrick and John Delaney, and a sister, Miss Mary Delaney. Funeral services were held Wednesday morning.

Holy Name parish mourns the death of another aged and highly esteemed member, Mrs. Katie Quick, widow of the late George W. Quick, 1910 South Third street. She was survived by three sons, Thomas R., Charles Edward, Louisville, and James E. Quick, Cleveland; two daughters, Mrs. Clarence Hannequin, Louisville, and Mrs. E. G. Richie, Cleveland, and one brother and three sisters. Funeral services were held Wednesday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Kelley announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Mary Elizabeth Zoll, to William Curran. The marriage took place Monday, April 5, at the St. Louis Bertrand church, the Rev. Father Lyons officiating. The wedding was followed by a breakfast at the home of the bride's parents for members of the two immediate families, after which Mr. and Mrs. Curran left on their wedding trip to New York and other points East.

LONG EUROPEAN TRIP.

Miss Maggie Gehre and Miss Clara Discher left the first of the week for a trip to Europe. They were to sail from St. Johns, N. B., on April 8, and will visit France, Italy, Switzerland, Belgium, Holland, England, Scotland and Ireland. The trip includes a ten-day automobile tour through the Chateaux country of France and five days among the battle fronts.

ALUMNI MEETING.

A general meeting of the St. Xavier College Alumni will be called for next Tuesday night at the college auditorium. It is desired that all members be present, as the proceedings promise to be of great interest.

QUEEN'S DAUGHTERS.

The Queen's Daughters held their annual meeting and election of officers yesterday afternoon, too late to be reported in this issue. Much satisfaction was manifest when the reports were read and the work of the past year was reviewed.

GOING TO CHILI.

Miss Agnes Shea, of Seymour, Ind., cousin of Judge James W. Fortune, of Jeffersonville, has departed for Santiago, Chile, where she will make her home with her brother, Ambassador Joseph H. Shea, formerly of Scottsburg.

NEW ALBANY.

Rev. Father Seibertz, pastor of St. Mary's church, delivered an eloquent and entertaining address Wednesday night at the meeting of New Albany Council, Knights of Columbus. The hall was filled with members.

SARTO CLUB MET.

The Sarto Literary Club met Wednesday evening with Mrs. E. J. Hackett at her home in New Albany. An entertaining programme was enjoyed by all present, the numbers including subjects of more than ordinary interest.

ANOTHER HUNDRED.

Mackin Council members are enthused over the success of its Lenten drive, which will end with the initiation of a class of about 100 candidates on Sunday, April 11. President McGuire and the degree team are making elaborate preparations for this event and expect all the old-time members to be present to witness the work, which will be almost entirely new to many.

ECLIPSES.

There will be two eclipses in 1920, two of the sun and two of the moon. The first will be a total eclipse of the moon on May 2; the next will be a partial eclipse of the sun, May 17; the next a total eclipse of the moon, October 27, and the last a partial eclipse of the sun, November 10.

It takes nerve for newspapers to announce for President a man who does not pay all his bills and who maintains a residence in London, and who never voted in this country. Just think of it!
